

E. V. S. Class-4

Chapter-1 Relationships in a family

A. Fill in the blanks.

1. Relationships are made by birth, marriage and adoption.
2. Relatives from my father's side are my paternal relatives.
3. We can claim and assert many rights but rights come with responsibilities.

B. Write T for true F for false for the following sentences.

1. Some relationships are formed when our brothers, sisters, uncles and aunts get married.
True
2. Parents and their children form an extended family. False
3. Family relationships train children in skills needed to build healthy relationships of their own. True

C. Answer the following questions briefly.

1. What do you mean by relationships in a family?

Ans. Relationships in a family means family members are related to one another.

- They share joy, sorrow and involves in solving problem or conflicts.

2. How are relationships formed?

Ans. Relationships are formed by birth, by marriage and by adoption.

3. What does a good family relationship, help us, do?

Ans. Good family relationship make us feel loved, belonged, safe and supported.

*It teaches us to respect the differences of opinion.
